"Is Thaw insane?" asks an esteemed contemporary. Dunno. Never thaw him.

We'll feel safer when we see the 1908 platform of the never despairing Democracy.

The canal legislation appears to be about the only kind that is not involved in a dead lock in Congress.

Remarks the Charleston News and Courier: "Clearly, the moral of the Thaw-White homicide is: Beware of cigarettes!" Also, chorus girls on the side.

Nothing could more conclusively foreshadow the collapse of the Republican party in this State than the fact that Marion Butler has become its ruling spirit.

When the privileged classes get jacked up for overriding the rights of the masses there is something curious in the howl they raise over the curtailment of their license.

The eggs that were to hatch out the New Hanover delegates to the congressional convention in this district must have been allowed to get cold. They ought to be tested.

Nevertheless the Bryan revival is continuous as well as remarkable. If the Nebraskan stays over in Europe much longer it will be unanimous by the time he lands in New York on his return.

The Republican leaders in North Carolina ought to know each other pretty well. And if they do, they must be the sorriest set of rascals that ever played a hand in a political game.

The Jamestown Exposition people have selected Mr. Kohtsaat to go to Europe in the interest of the exposition to celebrate the 300th anniversary of the first permanent English settlement in America. The gentleman may speak English but his name gives him away.

The Senate Committee on the Judiciary on Monday reported to the Sen ate that after investigating the question under a resolution so instructing the committee, that in the opinion of the committee Congress is not empowered under the constitution to supervise and regulate the business of life, fire and marine insurance in the various States but can do so in the Dis trict of Columbia and the Territories. It was one of President Roosevelt's pet schemes to provide government regulation of insurance.

SHRINERS ARE HERE

Notable Gathering of High Degree Masons at Wrightsville Beach To-night.

CEREMONIAL AND BANQUET

Degree to Be Conferred Upon Forty—Large Delegation From Charlotte Temple—Many Wilmingtonians to Tread Hot Sands.

To-night will witness a notable gathering of Shriners at the Hotel Tarrymoore, on Wrightsville Beach. It is a special ceremonial session at which there will be over two hundred prominent members of the ancient and honored order from all over the country. Quite a hundred were on the beach last night and the midnight train from Charlotte brought a special team of about fifty from that city. They were met here by Mr. W. A. French, Jr., secretary of the local committee of arrangements, and were taken down on special cars of the Consolidated Company. Arrangements for the meeting have been in progress some time and the advance guard indicates that it will be one of the most successful meetings of its kind ever held in the State.

There are about forty candidates for iniation, at least half of whom are from Wilmington. The ceremonial session will be held in the auditorium of the Hotel Tarrymoore and will begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock. All candidates for the degree are notified that it will be absolutely necssary for them to be present as early as 7 o'clock. The work will begin at once and will be completed at 11:30 o'clock when the guests and their lady friends will be invited to a banquet to be served at the Tarrymoore, lasting until 3 o'clock. At that hour a special car will be in waiting to convey all to the city who desire to return to the city to catch the early trains. The Shriners are the high degree Masons of the world and the meeting at Wrightsville will bring to the city one of the most distinguished bodies of men assembled there in some time. Many ladies are among the visitors and will lend their charms to the social session which will follow the ceremonial.

MARRIED IN FLORENCE, S. C.

Surprise Wedding on Wednesday Night of Two Popular Young People.

Mr. R. C. Tucker, a popular yard conductor of the Atlantic Coast Line in this city, and Miss Rose Anderson, an attractive young lady, of Fair Bluff, N. C., were married in Florence, S. C., on Wednesday evening, the Rev. Will B. Oliver, formerly of Wilmington, officiating. The marriage came as quite a surprise to a large number of friends who were not taken into the confidence of the romantic couple. The bride was visiting at Florence at the time and the groom went from Wilmington to meet her there for the culmination of a pretty love affair that had been on for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Tucker arrived in Wilmington on the Wednesday midnight train and will make their home in this city.

PETERSON IS HELD

Negro Who Broke In Mrs. Dunn's Residence Bound to Superior Court to Answer Five Counts of Housebreaking—$500 Bond Required.

Hurley Peterson, the negro ex-convict charged with breaking into the residence of Mrs. Dunn, at Seventh and Princess streets, was bound over to the higher court by Justice Furlong yesterday under bonds in five cases aggregating $500. He couldn't give the bond and was committed to jail. At the trial Peterson made no statement and was rather morose about answering questions applied to him in regard to the robbery. Entrance was gained by tearing a blind off a back window and the goods were carried out the same way.

The stolen articles, consisting largely of clothing, were identified by Messrs. T. M. Henderson, W. P. Boger, H. J. Arnett, E. Lucas and B. R. Dunn, Jr. Another witness was called Mr. Pete Griffin, but he was out of the city.

When he was brought in court the coat worn by the negro was identified by one of the young men, a hat by another, a shirt by another and the shoes on his feet by another. The negro's embarrassment at this development of affairs probably accounted for his silence. The colored women at whose house the clothes were left by Peterson were also witnesses in the case.

LAWYERS' BUSY DAY AT WRIGHTSVILLE BEACH

Annual Address by Hon. Hannis Taylor Heard by Large Audience—Splendid Paper by Hon. T. W. Bickett—Many Reports Heard.

The State Bar Association in session at Wrightsville Beach yesterday might well have hung out the sign "This is Our Busy Day." Morning, afternoon and night sessions were held and the really important business of the annual meeting was transacted. The sessions, too, were marked by an increased attendance and though the weather was not all that could be desired, the visitors seemed to be enjoying their stay and will want to come again. The feature yesterday morning was a very fine address by Hon. T. W. Bickett, of Louisburg, N. C., and at night it was the annual address to the Association by the distinguished Hon. Hannis Taylor, author and diplomat, of Washington, D. C. The other time was filled in with reports of special and standing committes and discussion upon the same.

President Clement Manly, of Winston-Salem, is presiding with rare ability, and Mr. J. Crawford Biggs, of Durham, recently nominated for judge of his district, is at the desk as secretary. In the latter duties he has an able assistant in Miss Goldie Ritch, of Charlotte, an expert stenographer. The sessions are being held in the ball room of the Seahore Hotel, where every convenience is provided for the guests. A number of ladies are daily in attendance upon the meetings and seem to take a deep interest in the proceedings. The meeting this year is by all odds the largest ever held. From the report of the secretary made yesterday, it is shown that the active membership last year was 384; thirty members were added this year, running the total up to 419 with a number of applications still on file to be acted upon. The honorary roll numbers 31, making a grand total of 450 members, the largest in the history of the Association.

During the past year death has removed from membership Capt. Charles Price, Maj. Jno. D. Shaw, Jr., Esq., Chas. W. Bidgood, S. Heilig and T. H. Cobb, for whom suitable memorials have been prepared and will be submitted to-day by the committee.

At the last meeting of the Association a resolution recommending that the Association take action to secure for itself power and authority as a body or through an appropriate committee (1) to grant license to practice law and (2) to provide for disbarment of attorneys for unprofessional conduct was adopted, and itw as these subjects that were chiefly discussed at the day session yesterday. The committee named is composed of E. J. Justice, of Greensboro; E. T. Cansler, of Charlotte, and T. T. Hicks, of Henderson. Mr. Justice was unable to be present and the report was submitted through Mr. Hicks. That part of the report recommending that candidates be licensed by a committee from the Bar Association instead of by the Supreme Court as now was adopted, and the law committee was instructed to submit a bill to the Legislature to this effect at the next session of that body. The part of the report in regard to disbarment of members of the profession provoked a long discussion and the matter was finally referred back to the committe for report at the night session. The committee held a long meeting in the afternoon and the report as amended was adopted unanimously at the evening session. All the machinery is provided for the disbarment of members guilty of unprofessional conduct, the iniative to be taken by the Association through the Grievance Committee, the chairman of which will receive a salary of $50 per annum for the conduct of such cases as may be brought forward. The violations are set forth as the conviction for a crime punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary; the unlawful retention of moneys in his hands without a bonafide claim thereto or any part thereof; wilful deceit or fraud in the practice

CALLED UPON SCOTT

His Attorney Saw Him in Jail Yesterday—Will Make a Statement But Not a Confession—Disclosures in Letter Hooted At.

Henry Scott, regarded as the arch fiend of the negro mutineers in jail here, under sentence of death, was called upon yesterday by his counsel, William J. Bellamy, Esq. The visit was in view of Scott's approaching execution on the sixth of July, and Mr. Bellamy's talk with the prisoner was of interest. It was the first time that the attorney had seen his client since he was sentenced, and Mr. Bellamy felt that it was his duty to call on the condemned man and see if there was anything further that could be done in his behalf. Mr. Bellamy said that he found Scott rather broken in spirit, but still protesting his innocence. The negro asked for paper upon which to write a statement which he proposes to make on the gallows next Friday. It will not be a confession, said Mr. Bellamy, for Scott has given positive assurance that he will make no confession. This is especially interesting in view of the fact that many expected that Scott, toward the last, would make a statement exonerating Adams and Sawyer.

When asked about the letter addressed to him, disclosing the existence of a regularly organized band of sea pirates over the country, which letter was intercepted by the authorities, Scott replied that it was all bosh and was a clever ruse adopted by friends of Adams and Sawyer to stay their execution. However, this remains to be seen. The letter is still in the hands of the authorities and is being investigated fully.

THE MOUNTED FORCE

Steeds For the Police Under Training For Service Beginning Next Week —One Man For Day and Four For Night Duty.

The horses recently purchased for the mounted police service are now undergoing very careful training by the men to fit them for the service. The practice is largely in riding them hurriedly to a given point, dismounting and leaving them for some distance. Very good progress has been made and more than one of the horses has already demonstrated his right to a badge by standing perfectly still while the rider dismounted and went for a distance of three blocks. The officers when they have a hurry call will have no time for a tether and this training is very essential. All of the animals are good saddlers and the men who have been assigned to the mounts are well pleased with them.

The saddles, blankets, bridles and all other paraphernalia have arrived and the service will go into effect next week. The horses are not yet in the best of form and the hardest duty will not be put on them at first. There will be four mounted officers for night duty and one for day service. The animals are being housed for the present in temporary quarters back of the City Hall.

Chicken Thieves on the Sound.

For the past week systematic chicken thievery has been going on in Masonboro township and the citizens there are up in arms against the parties believed to be responsible for the thefts and arrests are likely to follow. More than a hundred fine fowls were taken in three raids—40 from a Mrs. Piner, 30 from Mr. W. A. Piner and about 35 from Joe Pepper. The chickens are thought to have been sold on the beach to the several hotels and restaurants there.

The Real Estate Case.

The case in which Messrs. D. R. Foster & Co., secured a judgment in Justice Bornemann's court Wednesday for real estate commissions against Mr. B. F. King, the barber, was transferred yesterday to the Clerk of the Superior Court under supplementary proceedings and will be heard at 10 A. M. to-day. Woodus Kellum, Esq., appears for the real estate firm, and L. V. Grady, Esq., for Mr. King.

T. C. WHITE NAMED

WAS APPOINTED YESTERDAY

Will Report to Mr. Craig, General Passenger Traffic Manager—Effective on July 1st—Comes From Savannah, Ga.

An official circular from the office of President T. M. Emerson and Passenger Traffic Manager W. J. Craig, of the Atlantic Coast Line, yesterday, announces the appointment of Mr. T. C. White, of Savannah, Ga., as General Passenger Agent of the system, with headquarters in Wilmington. Mr. White is promoted from division passenger agent at Savannah and while his successor there has not been announced officially, it is understood that Mr. E. M. North, now commercial agent of the system, with headquarters in Augusta, will be appointed to that place.

Mr. White is a young man and was formerly division passenger agent at Tampa, Fla. He made his record with the heavy tourist travel in Florida and is conceded to be one of the best men in the passenger service of any railroad in the South. His appointment is effective on July 1st., and it is expected that he will come at once to Wilmington to take up his new duties, reporting to Passenger Traffic Manager Craig. The Wilmington railway official fraternity will extend a most cordial welcome to the new passenger agent for he has long been considered one of the ablest and most popular men on the Second Division. The office of general passenger agent has not been filled since Mr. Craig's elevation to the position of passenger traffic manager in the general reorganization of the traffic department of the road a little more than a year ago. The passenger business of the Coast Line in all its various ramifications and the progressive policy which characterize this department of the service made the appointment of a passenger agent necessary and there are many who will hear with great pleasure of the appointment of Mr. White.

As to Tax Listing.

Persons liable to taxation are reminded that to-day and to-morrow are the last upon which they may attend to this important duty. The books will remain open until 7 o'clock tomorrow night to give every one an opportunity of complying with the law and escaping double taxation besides the liabilty to indictment for a misdemeanor in not listing.

Policemen Are Grateful.

The police of the city desire to publicly thank Capt John W. Harper, of the steamer Wilmington, the business men who so generously donated refreshments and all others who in any way contributed to the great success of their annual outing at Carolina Beach on Wednesday. The officers had a day of fine sport and very much enjoyed the brief respite from duty in the city.

PAPER AND ALCOHOL FROM COTTON STALKS.

In the last two issues of the Star, we have been telling about the prospects of using some of the South's waste material in the distillation of denatured alcohol—for instance the utilization of corn stalks for that purpose. Cotton stalks weren't mentioned as one of the materials for producing alcohol but it seems that cotton stalks are not only to be used for making paper but also for producing alcohol. Thus we are to have another value added to the great value of the cotton fibre and cotton seed the latter of which not many years ago was a waste product. To use the stalks for making paper and alcohol will utilize the entire cotton plant and there will be no portion of it to go to waste.

A New York dispatch on Wednesday announces that a company with $15,000,000 authorized capital has been organized in Maine to manufacture paper and alcohol from cotton stalks. The company organized as the "Cotton Stalks Products Company," and of the authorized capital $3,000,000 is 7 per cent. preferred stock of a par value of $100 a share, and $12,000,000 common stock of a par value of $20 a share. The New York dispatch states that the company intends to manufacture paper and denatured alcohol from cotton stalks and fibre. Experiment have been going on for some time in making of paper from cotton fibre, and it is said now that a stage has been reached which warrants the organization of the company. Harvey Jordan, president of the Cotton Association, is president of the company; S. F. B. Morse, vice president, and Arthur F. Kales, secretary and treasurer.

President Harvie Jordan contributes this to the Manufacturers' Record, and we are sure it will be read with interest throughout the cotton growing country.

"The manufacture of paper from the fiber of the cotton stalk is one of the latest and most interesting inventions of the new century. For many years expert inventors have been busily engaged experimenting with the cotton stalk, and now it appears from recent developments that tehir labors and expenditures of money are to be rewarded with signal and striking success. Not only have these investigations passed the experimental stage, but they are rapidly being shaped to be placed into practical operation. It has been unquestionably demonstrated that all grades of paper, from the best form of linen grade to the lowest, can be manufactured from cotton stalks. In addition to this, a variety of bi-products, such as alcohol, nitrogen, material for gun cotton and smokeless powder, can also be secured in paying quantities. The time is not now far distant when paper plants equipped with all modern machinery and devices for making paper and the utilization of the other bi-products referred to will be built and placed in operation throughout the cotton growing States of the South. The establishment of these mills for the manufacture of paper from cotton stalks will at once develop a new industry of quite enormous proportions and institute the utilization of a waste product which at the present time has comparatively little or no value. It will prove the entering wedge of checking the present increasing cost of paper, which is becoming such a burden upon the newspaper industry of the country.

"It is estimated that on an area of land producing a bale of cotton at least one ton of stalks can be gathered. Upon this basis of calculation this new industry can asnually depend upon from 10,000,000 to 12,000,000 tons of raw material. This will not only furnish necessary supplies to meet all home demands but also permit of the export of pulp or finished products to foreign countries. At the present time there is approximately $287,000,000 invested in paper mills in the United States, with but few plants located in the South. The bulk of the material going into the manufacture of paper at the present time is spruce pine, and which is annually becoming more expensive in the depletion of the forests and the high prices which such timber commands in the markets for other uses. The utilization of a waste product such as the cotton stalk, manufactured into commercial paper, will be a boon of inestimable value to the whole country.

"The practical effect of this new invention will be to increase the present value of the South's cotton crop nearly $100,000,000 annually. The growers will be amply paid for the expense of removing the stalks from their fields and delivery to the paper plants, and in addition thereto receive a profit on this product of their labor. In the Southwestern section of the cotton belt the new industry will especially be of value and a blessing. With the removal of the cotton stalks from the fields in the early fall the death knell of the boll weevil will be sounded and its present devastating influences reduced to a minimum. So that from every standpoint the speedy development and extension of this new industry will be welcomed in all sections of the cotton belt. Paper manufactured from the cotton stalk is of the strongest texture and softest finish. It is reported that several plants will be erected during the next few months in certain sections of the South which will be in full operation by January 1, 1907."

THE FUTURE OF COTTON.

A noteworthy and remarkable article by Nicholas Worth appears in the July number of the Atlantic Monthly. It is under the title of "The Autobiography of a Southerner," and, of course, it is presumed that the writer is a Southern man, although it is not stated from what part of the country he hails. He gives us some reminiscences of ante-bellum or slavery days in the South, and in his introductory, the writer says:

"When I was a boy, I read in my grand-father's libray what, I dare say, is the most curious book ever published in our country. It was a big volume, bound in sheep, and it was called 'Cotton is King and Pro-Slavery Arguments.' It was the slave-owners' campaign book in the long ante-belum controversy. Its fundamental proposition was that the South had a monopoly of cotton culture, and, therefore, a sure foundation of perpetual wealth. The argument was that cotton culture was possible only by the labor of slaves, and, therfore, slavery had an economic justification.

"Never was so sound a premise made the basis of such unsound reasoning. Cotton is a sure foundation of perpetual and even yet undreamed of wealth; but the development of that wealth is still delayed and hindred because its culture was begun under slavery and is not yet wholly freed from the methods of slavery. How great wealth may be won from the cotton fields, the cotton mills, the cotton trade no economist has arisen with imagination to predict. What the proper culture of it and the proper manufacture of it will mean to the South, the Southern people themselves least of all understand. For no staple plant grows that is as profitable as this will become, and there is no other manufacture of which we have so clear a monopoly. Nor is there any other manufactured product for which the demand is sure to increase. Our foreign trade will build itself on cotton and cotton products to an extent that few men can yet imagine. Did you know, for instance, that, although we grow three-fourths of the world's cotton supply, we still import more manufactured products of cotton than we export?"

There is much more than the above that Mr. Worth writes in a similar vein, and he goes on to speak about the "freedom" of cotton and its future as a source of immense wealth to the South. His mention of that old book in his grand-father's library may be new to lots of Southern people, and as to that it is not here nor there, but Mr. Worth's remarks about the tremendous importance of the cotton crop are not overdrawn. The greatest future for cotton is the day when we will manufacture and export all the cotton grown in this country. There is great devlopment ahead for the export of manufactures when we contemplate that practically we have no export business in cotton goods, considering the fact that we take from Europe more than we ship there and to all other parts of the world. The export business in cotton goods opens a wide field yet to be developed by our manufacturers.

THE MAGAZINES.

The ever welcome Atlantic Monthly for July has been received. Its marked literary tone has never been sacrificed to sensationalism and it is always an intellectual treat. It has an individuality of its own and the July number is up to its most excellent standard. The contents embrace stories, poems and contributed articles on various subjects, and from the first to the last page is a succession of matter to entertain, interest and instruct. Space forbids mention of all the splendid features, but the leading article is one that will specially entertain Southern readers. It is "The Autobiography of a Southerner," by Nicholas Worth. The article is intensely interesting and is striking from the fact that it displays the new thought in the South as compared with ante bellum days. The subscription price of the Atlantic Monthly is $4 per annum and single copies sell for 35 cents. Address Houghton Mifflin & Co., 4 Park Place, Boston.

What a delightful experience it must be for the ladies to get the Woman's Home Companion. It is always so attractive, bright and interesting—beautifully and artistically illustrated, brimful of reading matter, consisting of stories, poetry and home and domestic science discussion, club matters and a great variety of topics that are not only entertaining, but excedingly valuable to women. Besides those features there are others and none more pleasing than the fashion department with its taking plates and illustrations. The July number of the Woman's Home Companion is out and it is a paragon of excellence. The magazine sells at 10 cents per copy and is sent a year for $1. Address the Crowell Publishing Co., Madison Square, New York.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—The trial of the alleged lynchers from Anson county, which is scheduled to begin July 16th at a special term of Union Superior Court, promises to be largely attended. It is said that about 500 people from Anson will be in attendance. The trial will be an important one and doubtless attract much attention, both in this and other States.—Charlotte Observer.

—The supposed clue to Miss Hood having been investigated and found to amount to nothing, the mystery surrounding her disappearance is as great as ever. It is indeed a most unusual case, and there is ground for the belief that the Asheville girl has been foully dealt with since her marriage to J. C. Cavendish, supposed to be "Lord Douglas," the notorious bigamist.—Charlotte Observer.

—But business men, viewing the (dispensary) situation from a moral and commercial standpoint, do not for a moment think of tearing up railroads and destroying enterprises of any sort because corruption may exist. The very first thought is to eradicate it, not to destroy the business in which it had been found. The endeavor is to attempt to place graft and corruption in the dispensary in a different class from any other so much so that the whole body must be destroyed in order to cure a single sore. We cannot grasp the distinction, or see why the universal remedy in other cases does not apply to it.—Columbia Record.

—Push has made American men what they are to-day. It is the great American spirit condensed into a monosyllable. Hand in hand with push goes publicity as a motive power toward success. The two are so close that it is difficult to know them apart. If he has a good thing he wishes the public to know about it. If he has goods to sell there must be push and publicity if he would convert those goods into income. What is the use of having the goods to sell if no one knows of them? How are the buyers to be found? Push and publicity will provide the articles to be sold and the persons to buy them. Push and publicity are the antidotes of stagnation and starvation.—Louisville Courier-Journal (Dem.).

—There need be no anxiety on the ground of the breach of precedent which may be involved in such a trip (as that of the President to Panama). In the first place, the breaking of such a precedent would not be a very serious matter after all. The President will never be far out of reach of the seat of government. The so-called unwritten law that a President must never leave the territory of the United States was framed at a time when such a thing as wireless telegraphy was undreamed of; but, as a matter of actual fact, it has repeatedly been violated in the letter, if not in the spirit. However that may be, a trip at the present time to Panama could be made without the infraction of the "law." The deck of an American warship is constructively American territory wherever it may be, while the canal zone at Panama is just as much American territory as though it was a part of the mainland within the limits of the United States.—Philadelphia Ledger (Ind.).

—Reider—I wonder what Jingleton gets for his magazine poems? Noxly—I don't know; but I know what he ought to get. Reider—What? Noxly—Six months twice a year.—Chicago Daily News.

—Mrs. Upmore (at bench show)—Look at that bulldog! Isn't he the most hideous and repulsive creature you ever saw? Mr. Upmore (dog fancier)—You bet he is! He's a beauty.—Chicago Tribune.

—First Passenger (exuberantly pacing the deck)—When I am at sea I can scarcely contain myself. Second Passenger (dejectedly leaning over the rail—Strange. That's just the way I feel.—Philadelphia Record.

—Maud—Yes, Jack is sentimental and Tom is practical. Belle—And which do you like better? Maud—Well, I'll let you guess. You see, Jack thinks I look sweet enough to eat, and then he sits and gazes at me; but Tom thinks I look hungry enough to eat, and then he takes me out.—Boston Transcript.

—"That speaker had a tremendous crowd." "Yes," answered Farmer Corntossel: "People must like to hear him speak." "Oh, I dunno. Folks is powerful curious. I reckon a man could draw a crowd by jest wavin' his han's an' stompin' his feet, same as he did, without saying a word."—Washington Star.

SPIRITS TURPENTINE

—The Greensboro lodge of Elks is to have a new home to be built at a cost of $25,000.

—The Republican county convention of Pender county met in Burgaw last Saturday with six in attendance. Delegates to the Senate and other conventions were appointed. Postmaster R. M. Croom presided as chairman.

Mount Olive Tribune: A colored woman, the wife of Tom Oliver, living on the farm of Dr. J. W. Kornegay, one and a half miles from town, gave birth to three boys on Saturday night last, all of whom are living and doing well.

—At Kinston on Wednesday 5,000 people attended the laying of the corner stone of the McDaniel Memorial Hospital by the Grand Lodge of Masons. Grand Master F. D. Winston officiated, and the speakers were also Grand Master Winston, who is Lieutenant Governor, and Governor Glenn.

Clarkton Express: County Superintendent Angus Cromartie asks us to announce that the Teachers' Institute for the white teachers of Bladen county will be held at White Lake this year, beginning July 23rd, at 8 P. M., and continue till August 4th.

Laurinburg Exchange: The train for Wilmington Sunday night put off a German at the depot and had him cared for till Monday morning, when it took him back to Hamlet. The man could not speak a word of English and got on this train through mistake, thinking it was the train for Norfolk.

Pender Chronicle: A fierce storm did great damage around Rocky Point Sunday evening to the crops. Tomatoes were beaten down, corn torn in shreds and cotton beat to the ground. It is reported that thousands of cabbages on Harrison Creek, which were ready for shipment, were washed away.

Fayetteville North Carolina Baptist: Two former Fayetteville pastors were given D. D. this month, Rev. W. B. Oliver, of South Carolina, by Furman University, and Rev. S. J. Porter, of Missouri, by William Jewell College. They are both Tar Heels and both Wake Forest men. How this editor loves them!

—Mount Olive Tribune: Politics "sho' is" warming up in our neighbor county of Duplin, judging from the list of announcements that appear in the two county papers. A gentleman from there told us a few days ago that two prominent Duplin men, one of them a preacher, got into a dispute over the claims of two candidates, and came very near to blows.

—During a storm at Burlington Monday evening Prof. F. H. Curtiss, superintendent of the graded schools, was painfully injured by a stroke of lightning. Prof. Curtiss was at work at his desk in the graded school office when the stroke came. He was rendered unconscious for some time and suffered temporary paralysis of the tongue.

Clarkton Express: The many friends of Mr. O. L. Clark throughout this section of the State will be sorry to know that he continues in a critical condition, and it is feared that he can not recover. Skilled physicians and nurses are doing all they can and it is hoped they may be able to bring about his recovery. Mr. Clark is one of the best and most popular men in this county, and his death would be an irreparable loss. His brother, Rev. Byron Clark, of Baltimore, is with him.

—At Carthage on Wednesday morning at 3 o'clock, G. C. Graves' livery stable with its contents and Dr. W. W. Fry's residence across the street from the stable were burned. Besides vehicles and feed, Mr. Graves had stored in the stable about $1,000 worth of new household furniture which he had just received for his elegant residence. All of this furniture and everything else about the stable burned. Seven fine horses were victims of the flames. The loss to Graves is about $5,000, while Fry's loss is about $1,000. It is hard to determine the origin of the fire.

—Mrs. Joe White, bride of a few months, about 26 years of age, suffered a very singular and perhaps fatal injury at her home at North Wilkesboro Monday afternoon, during a thunder storm. She was sitting in her room when lightning struck the house. It tore through the roof and in turn struck a large picture, which was hanging on the wall. The picture and its heavy frame were hurled against Mrs. White with terrific force, inflicting serious injury. It appears that the lightning which wrought such havoc never touched the woman. Mrs. White's condition is reported to be serious; in fact, it is said she cannot live.

—Reidsville correspondence: The tobacco concerns here are making preparations for a tremendous business, several of them having let contracts for extra buildings. The Old North State Company's annex is well under way. It extends almost an entire square and added to the already commodious plant, will make it one of the largest smoking tobacco establishments in the country. The Penn Company is arranging to erect a big storage house adjoining one of their buildings. They already occupy large factories on both sides of the railroad but find that owing to the heavy demands for their products they are compelled to increase the capacity of their establishment.

—Greensboro Special, June 27: Will Glass, a negro boy 17 years old, was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace D. H. Collins this morning on a warrant charging him with attempted criminal assault upon Hazel Whittington, the thirteen year old daughter of Mr. John Whittington, who lives three miles from town. Glass was bound over to Superior Court and in default of a $500 bond went to jail. The girl said that one afternoon this week, while her father was in the city, the negro came into her room and attempted to drag her on the bed. An old negro woman, who was there at the time, drove the negro away. The negro woman corroborated the story told by the girl. Glass has been in trouble before and it surprises no one that he is under this charge.

Washington correspondence, June 27: Republican State Chairman Adams was at the White House to-day and visited some of the departments. With Mr. Adams was W. S. Pearson, of Morganton. When asked how his candidacy for the chairmanship was progressing, Mr. Adams said he was getting along very well. Mr. Adams and his friends are upset over the action of Gaston county and the reports that other counties in that section are showing a disposition to endorse Blackburn. However, they are expecting big support from the far eastern counties, where Mr. Butler and Collector Duncan direct the movements of Federal office holders, or most of them. Singly these counties do not amount to much, many of them casting only two or three votes in the State convention, but the total of these eastern votes amounts to a good deal.

New York Special, June 27, to Charlotte Observer: Mr. F. G. Hamrick, of Shelby, N. C., was married in this city this afternoon to Miss Carrie Thompson, a former member of "The Clansman" Company, which has toured the North and South. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Henry Marsh Warren, hotel chaplain, at 48 West Ninety-fourth street. The groom has been secretary to Rev. Thos. Dixon, author of "The Clansman," for several years and met Miss Thompson while the company to produce the play was being organized. A romance then began, which culminated in the marriage here to-day. He will manage next year a company now being organized to present a dramatization of "The One Woman," a novel by Mr. Dixon. Mrs. Hamrick will be a member of this company. The bride is an unusually attractive young woman and is very highly spoken of. The groom is widely popular both in New York and North Carolina.

—The South, and North Carolina in particular, received an especial distinction on Wednesday in the commencement exercises at Harvard, in the selection of a young man from Pendleton, N. C., Gilbert T. Stephenson, as one of the commencement speakers. This is an honor much sought in Harvard and there is keen rivalry for it. A man must be a good speaker, must have attained distinction in some special branch of study and then present a part, which shall excell all of the hundreds of others. When it is said that there are at least four or five hundred men eligible for each of the five commencement parts, it shows how well a man must have done to be appointed. What makes this appointment the more interesting is that this is the second year in succession that a Southerner, and a North Carolinian, has received the same honor. Last year, W. A. Lambeth, now a Methodist minister in Salisbury, N. C., received the appointment.

Scores of Wilmington Readers Are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys.

To filter the blood is the knidneys' duty.

When they fail to do this the kidneys are sick.

Backache and many kidney ills follow.

Urinary trouble, diabetes.

Doan's Kidneys Pills cure them all.

Policeman R. E. Smith, who lives with his family at 213 Boundry street, Goldsboro, N. C., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and have been very well pleased with them. They did me so much good that we decided to try them on our little boy who seemed to be suffering from a weakness of the kidneys. He could not hold his urine and we have had to lift him out of bed several times a night or he would pass it in his sleep. Since giving him the pills we have been entirely relieved of this annoyance. My attention was with my back. I always had a pain right across the small of it, and the secretions were dark colored and heavy with sediment. Since I used the pills my back is much stronger and does not ache at all and the urine has been cleared up to a natural condition. I certainly advise all sufferers from kidney troubles to try them."

Plenty more proof like this from Wilmington people. Call at R. R. Bellamy's drug store and ask what customers report.

Hobbs, on South Second street, the Rev. A. McCullen, pastor of Fifth Street M. E. church, officiating. The home was very prettily decorated for the wedding and a number of friends were present to witness the ceremony The bride was attended by Miss Minnie Galloway, a sister of the groom, as maid of honor, while a brother of the bride, Mr. Caswell O. Hobbs, of Greenville, S. C., was best man. Knocked Down By Horse and Wagon.

While attempting to stop a horse attached to a delivery wagon that had started off from his store at Fourh and Castle streets yesterday morning, Mr. J. G. W. Tiencken was knocked down by the animal and the wagon passed over him. Miraculously he scaped with no serious injury. Dr. F. H. Russell was summoned and dressed a number of slight wounds. At first it was thought that Mr. Tiencken was seriously hurt, but he was able to be up and attending to his duties as usual about the store after a very short time.

of his profession and the soliciting of business professional directly or indirectly. When the latter violation was read by Mr. Hicks, it was greeted with applause. Both the penalty of suspension and disbarment is provided in the report. The matter after adoption, was referred to the law committee with a request that a bill embracing the recommendations be urged at the next session of the Legislature.

A letter and resolution was read from Maxcy L. John, of Laurinburg, regretting his inability to attend and urging the adoption of some means looking to the earlier delivery of the public and private laws of North Carolina after their passage by the Legislature. The resolution empowering the Secretary of State to contract with an independent printer for this work was adopted and was referred to the Committee on Law Reform.

Judge Womack, of Raleigh, offered a resolution requesting the executive committee to prepare a more elaborate programme for the discussion of live judicial affairs at the annual meetings of the Association and spoke in furtherance of the resolution. It was adopted and referred to the committee.

At the opening of the night session, Col. S. V. Pickett, dean of the Hendersonville bar, presented an urgent invitation for the Association to meet next year in his town. He spoke in his inimitable way of the capabilities of his place to entertain the body and urged the Association to recommend to the executive committee that Hendersonville be chosen as the place of meeting. The secretary read invitations also from Lake Toxaway and Asheville. It was finally decided to refer the whole matter to the executive committee, recommending Col. Pickett, but not recommending that the place of meeting be Hendersonville.

Thos. W. Davis, Esq., on behalf of the Wilmington bar, extended a very cordial invitation to the Association and the lady friends to become guests of the local Association for a trip down the Cape Fear river to Fort Caswell the following afternoon, leaving the city at 2:30 o'clock and returning at 8 o'clock the same evening. Refreshments will be served on board and an opportunity will be given for the visitors to see the big fortifications at the fort. Members of the Wilmington bar and their families and friends are also invited.

The annual report of the Treasurer showed the Association in splendid condition. The net balance last year was $474.50 and the receipts for the year were $736.26, making a total of $1,210.76. The expenditures were $791.30, leaving a balance this year of $419.46 with no outstanding obligations.

The addres of Mr. Bickett yesterday

The address of Mr. Bickett yesterday was "The Personality of the Judge as Affecting the Case." Mr. Bickett was witty and serious as the occasion demanded. It was a really fine effort and he was highly complimented upon it.

Address of Hon. Hannis Taylor.

The address of Hon. Hannis Taylor was heard by an audience which taxed the capacity of the auditorium, many ladies being in the room. The distinguished speaker was introduced by Hon. Clement Manly in a beautiful speech, referring to his boyhood acquaintance with the distinguished North Carolinian. Mr. Taylor introduced his subject by referring to the kind words spoken of him by Mr. Manly, of his sainted father and the pleasure that was his in again visiting the home of his nativity after an absence of more than twenty years. His address proper was a masterly discussion of constituional and judicial rights with especial application to the railway rate regulation by Congress. While much of the address was technical, it was listened to with intense interst by the laymen in attendance as well as by the profession.

This Morning's Session.

The closing session of the Association will be held this morning. A number of committe reports are to be received and the lawyers present will hear with pleasure an address by Mr. S. F. Mordecai, of Raleigh, on "Contracted Rights and Liabilities of Married Women." The election of officers will follow. Among some of the names mentioned for the presidency are Messrs. George Rountree and Mr. Junius Davis, of this city, and Judge C. A. Webb. Thos. W. Davis, Esq., is also spoken of prominently for secretary and treasurer. It is expected that quite a little contest will grow up over the selection of the officers.

Two-Day Excursion.

Maj. C. H. Gattis, travelling passenger agent of the Seaboard Air Line, is at Wrightsville Beach. Major. Gattis says that the next big excursion to Wilmington for longer than a day will be one from Charlotte, Chester and Rutherfordton, arriving on the afternoon of the 17th of July and remaining until the morning of the 19th. This will give the passengers two days and two nights at the seashore instead of two days and a night as heretofore. Mr. W. P. Clements, of Raleigh, has been appointed excursion agent of the Seaboard in place of Mr. Frank Gough, of Lumberton, who resigned some time ago to devote all his time to private interests at his home.

ENGINEER AND FIREMAN.

Injuries Received in Wreck Below Goldsboro Reported Serious.

(Special to News and Observer.)

Goldsboro, N. C. June 27.—In the wreck on the Atlantic Coast Line below this city last night, Engineer McMillan had one rib broken while his fireman, Bob Chestnutt, had two ribs fractured. Both men were taken to the railroad hospital at Rocky Mount, and a message from there today states that their injuries are serious. The front of the engine was badly broken up by the collision with the runaway lumber car and the car itself burst into fragments. It seemed a miracle that both men escaped death.

New Cumberland Road.

Yesterday afternoon's Fayetteville Observer says: "For the past few days two or three well-dresed, intelligent looking men, whose names have not been ascertained by the reporter, as they have probably been stopping at a boarding house, have been taking long hack drives west and northwest of the city toward Little River and Raeford, and southeast toward Cedar Creek, making what looks like a bird's-eye or preliminary railroad survey of the country. They were provided with maps, which they frequently consulted during their drives, and especially made close examination of all the streams they crossed."

MEAT INSPECTION AROUSES HOUSE

Mississippi, said the situation is this: "These people (the packers) have been and are voluntarily endangering the public health and now they want the public to pay them for quitting it."

Mr. Humphrey, of Washington, talked about the "devils in hell' in conjunction with the packers' paying the cost of inspection and inveighed against their insulting demands.

"Rally 'round the conferees" was the slogan of Mr. Payne, of New York. "Stand by the judgment of the House. Put the inspection on the government, where it belongs and make this inspection a model for the world," were among Mr. Payne's impassioned sentences as he rallied the supporters of the agricultural committee on to victory.

The resolution that it was the sense of the House that the conferees refuse to recede was then adopted 193 to 45.

shots from Thaw's pistol. He was found to be suffering from Bright's disease, incipient tuberculosis and from fatty degeneration of the liver.

Thaw sent a message from the Tombs to-day to Anthony Comstock, president of the Society for the Suppression of Vice, saying he had received a letter which it would pay Mr. Comstock to investigate. An agent of the society called upon Thaw this afternoon, but was not admitted at that time. It was said that either the agent or Mr. Comstock might see Thaw tomorrow.

Mrs. Thaw's appearance before the grand jury had been looked forward to with considerable interest, as it was thought she possibly would take advantage of the occasion to throw some additional light upon the tragedy. When she appeared and requested to be excused from testifying the jury took the view that for the purpose of an indictment her evidence was not necessary. After being ushered into the grand jury room, Mrs. Thaw was asked:

"What is your name?"

"Evelyn Nesbit Thaw."

"How old are you?"

"Twenty years."

"When did you last see and meet Stanford White, the deceased?"

Without becoming excited in the least, but in a calm and rather forceful manner, she replied clearly, with emphasis on each word: "I hope that you gentlemen will not insist that I shall answer any more questions. I must respectfully decline to answer the questions you intend to ask me. I say this with all respect to you gentlemen."

Mr. Garvan then asked her:

"Why don't you wish to answer?"

Addressing the foreman, Mrs. Thaw replied earnestly:

"I might say something that might do harm to my husband and a wife ought to do all she can to protect her husband. I beg of you not to insist in putting further questions to me, because if you do I will have to decline to answer."

Addressing the jury, Mr. Garvan is said to have stated that the District Attorney's office would not insist unless the grand jury desired. The jurymen then held a short consultation among themselves, and finally after a few minutes, the foreman, turning to Mrs. Thaw, said:

"The grand jury has no desire to ask further questions, unless you desire to tell them anything."

Mrs. Thaw simply replied:

"Thank you."

She was then excused.

bills—the general deficiency—was reported during the day and a night session was held for its consideration.

After passing the general deficiency bill the omnibus public building bill the Senate at 10:30 adjourned until tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

The House.

Washington, June 28.—The House worked under forced draught to-day and accomplished an immense amount of business preparatory to adjournment at the week's end.

Conference reports on a number of measures were adopted without debate, but it required special rules in other particulars to effect consideration and adoption of some important conference agreements.

Interest centered about the conference reports on the rate bill and the agricultural bill but both these reports were considered and adopted under a blanket rule permitting the consideration of conference reports without being printed in the Record. The House expressed its confidence in its conferees on the agricultural bill by instructing them not to recede on the meat inspection amendmeit, by a vote of 193 to 45.

On the rate bill there was a general expression of satisfaction that that measure had been perfected.

Without taking a recess the House labored from 11 o'clock this morning until adjournment at 11 o'clock tonight during which time many bills on the private calendar were passed.

After the legislative business which kept the House at the grindstone until 8 o'clock had been disposed of, crowded galleries listened to a series of political speeches.

The resignation of Timothy D. Sullivan as a member of the House from the Eighth New York District was sent to the Speaker today and read to the House.

NEW MACHINE TO CHOP COTTON

Invention of South Carolinian Exploited at Charlotte—Two Hundred Used in Palmetto State This Season.

(Charlotte Observer, June 28.)

Messrs. B. C. Butler and D. F. Foreman, of Columbia, S. C., arrived in the city yesterday morning and will spend a few days in the city exploiting a cotton chopper which is the invention of Mr. Butler and is named for him. Mr. Butler patented the machine the 30th of last January and began their manufacture at once, building slightly more than 200 in time for use this season. The two gentlemen have quite a number of testimonials from planters who used the choppers, attesting their usefulness and completeness.

The machine is very simple in construction. It runs on two wheels, the turning of which propel the blades, and a "slide," which runs along beside the row of cotton. The two blades are fastened to an axle, running lengthwise the machine and, as above stated, are propelled by the turning of the wheels, the power being transmitted by means of two cog wheels. The blades are fastened to their axle so that, in chopping, the hill may be made any length from half an inch to three inches. The spaces between hills are 12 inches, although machines with other lengths may be made. By simply pressing down upon the handles a space may be skipped and thus the destruction of a stand avoided in some places.

Messrs. Butler and Foreman are now building a factory at Columbia, S. C., and will put sevral thousands of the machines on the market next year, so they say. They told an Observer reporter that they could not fill all orders last season and that they expect to have a large run on them during the next season. The chopper will retail for $15 and is calculated to chop as much cotton as six hoe-hands, about six acres a day.

WISCONSIN IS FOR WM. J. BRYAN.

Name of Nebraskan Cheered to Echo in State Convention Yesterday.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 27.—Democrats of Wisconsin to-day met in State convention to outline the policy to be recommended to candidates that will be nominated by primaries this fall. That the meeting will endorse William Jennings Bryan as the party's national standard bearer in the campaign of 1908 and declare for a revision of the tariff seemed certain to-night.

When Daniel H. Grady, of Portage, temporary chairman of the platform convention, referred in his speech to Mr. Bryan as the "embodiment of the principles of Democracy," and hoped that "he may live to see the triumph of the cause and answer to the people's call to the helf of state, leaving an official record as stainless as that of his private life," the seven hundred delegates broke forth in tumultuous applause.

John A. Aylward, of Madison, was chosen permanent chairman, and made a speech reviewing national issues. He referred to Bryan in the following language:

"The death and burial of the Democratic party has not happened yet. Six years ago our Republican friends tried planting us face down and we dug out through China. We have witnessed the dawning of a day of freedom in Russia. Last week we were present at the organization of popular government in Norway and soon, in the grandest resurrection the world has known since the Prince of Peace walked forth from Calvary's sepulcher, we shall arrive home, with the peerless, fearless William Jennings Bryan."

This reference to Mr. Bryan was cheered to the echo.

"In this campaign and in the next," he said, "our dominant cry shall be tariff revision."

Borwn, of Bennettsville, S. C., says: "There restored my wife to perfect health, after years of suffering with dyspepsia and chronically torpid liver." Electric Bitters cure chills and fever, malaria, billiousness, lame back, kidney troubles and bladder disorders. Sold on guarantee by all Druggists.

Danderine

AND WE CAN

PROVE IT

The Great Danderine Never Fails to Produce the Desired Results

MISS Lewis' hair was very thin and it was less than two feet in length when she began using Danderine. She says her hair and scalp are now fairly teeming with new life and vigor.

That's the main secret of this great remedy's success as a hair grower. It enlivens, invigorates and fairly electrifies the hair glands and tissues of the scalp, causing unusual and unheard-of activity on the part of these two most important organs, resulting in a strenuous and continuous growth of the hair.

The following is a reproduction of Miss Lewis' last letter:

January 3, 1905.

Dear Doctor Knowlton:—

You know I told you in my first letter that my hair would not reach much below my shoulders, and that all of it together only made one tiny braid.

I am sending you my photograph, which I had taken at Stevens Bros. It tells the whole story better than I can tell it.

Everybody I know is using Danderine, so you see I am doing something to show my appreciation.

Sincerely yours, (Miss) EVA LEWIS.

Danderine makes the scalp healthy and fertile and keeps it so. It is the greatest scalp fertilizer and therefore the greatest hair-producing remedy the world has ever known. It is a natural food and a wholesome medicine for both the hair and scalp. Even a 25c bottle of it will put more genuine life in your hair than a gallon of any other hair tonic ever made. It shows results from the very start.

NOW at all druggists in three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents and $1. per bottle

FREE. To show how quickly Danderine acts we will send a large sample free by return mail to any one who sends this advertisement to the Knowlton Danderine Co., Chicago, with their name and address and 10 cents in silver or stamps to pay postage.

THE COTTON MARKETS.

New York, June 28.—Trading in cotton was restricted to evening up and professional operations by uncertainty as to the effect of July notices to-morrow, and the usual anticipations as to week end settlements. Fluctuations were nervous and irregular, but comparatively narrow, with the close steady, 3 to 10 points net lower. Sales estimated at 150,000 bales. The opening was steady at a decline of 2 points to an advance of 3 points, which was just about as due on the cables and relatively easy on the old crop months, which, however, advanced in keeping with new crop right after the call. But the steadiness was of very short duration owing to the favorable weather and crop reports and prices soon sagged off under liquidation and selling by some of the room bears. At a decline of 6 to 8 points, when July sold at 10.12 and December at 10.33, the market steadied on covering and rallied to about the closing prices of the previous day, but sold off again in the afternoon under a renewal of liquidation and bear pressure which was encouraged by reports of a smaller spot demand and the fear of July notices. The close was within a point or two of the lowest.

Receipts at the ports to-day 4,170 bales against 4,313 last week and 9,352 last year. For the week 30,000 bales against 31,223 last week and 75,548 last year. To-day's receipts at New Orleans 1,208 bales against 3,268 last year and at Houston 529 bales against 801 last year.

MRS MORRIS' DRESS WAVED BY MR. TILLMAN

South Carolina Senator Again Expresses Great Indignrtion At Roosevelt's Appointment of Barnes as Postmaster of Washington

WOMAN'S BEDRAGGLED SKIRT SHOWN

IT WAS MUDDY AND CONTAINED HOLES MADE BY MRS. MORRIS' BEING DRAGGED THROUGH WHI TE HOUSE YARD—SENATOR DECLARED THAT EVIDENCE THA T MAN WHO DENIED THAT SHE WAS ROUGHLY HANDLED WAS AN ARRANT LIAR

Washington, June 28.—Senator Tillman interrupted the regular business of the Senate to-day to speak on his resolution calling for an investigation into the ejection of Mrs. Minor Morris from the White House last January. He complained that his resolution had been pushed aside constantly for one reason or another. He said he never would have again approached the subject, "but for the fact that the name of the man, Assistant Secretary Barnes, who must be held responsible for the act, had been sent to the Senate for the postmastership of Washington."

This nomination he considered equal to throwing the matter in the teeth of the Senate, although the Senate had not shown its teeth on the subject. He then detailed his efforts to have the nomination of Mr. Barnes rejected. He told also of his ineffectual efforts to secure an investigation of his charges against Barnes. In order that he might not be accused of unfairness, Mr. Tillman had read Mr. Barnes' defense of his conduct in the Morris affair.

He also had read the statements of Elmer E. Paine, who was, he said, one of the six newspaper men at the Executive Office when the Morris incident occurred. He commented at some length on Mr. Paine's statement, saying he was the only one of the six who had ever had anything to say about the matter outside of their own papers or in private conversation. This he spoke of as "remarkable," and then quoted extracts from Mr. Paine's statement.

In contrast to that statement he had presened what he declared to be the actual facts in the case. These were included in a statement from James H. Price, another newspaper man who had witnessed the occurrence. In Mr. Paine's statement it was repsented that Mrs. Morris was treated as considerately as possible, while Mr. Price said she was "carried off like a sack of salt."

Mr. Tillman spoke of Mr. Barnes' denial of another statement by Mr. Price that a negro man had assisted in "the cruel and miserable performance." He said the President had been very indifferent as to whether he should get at the facts in the case and he could not understand why Paine had been singled out from among the newspaper men.

He also discussed the difference of testimony as to whether Mrs. Morris had been dragged and as going to "prove beyond all possibility of dispute," he said Mrs. Morris had furnished him with the black silk skirt she wore on the occasion. This was torn in many places, while there was a round hole at one of the knees, showing that she unquestionably had been dragged. Not only was there a hole in the skirt, but there were also holes in the underclothing and in the hosiery—proof sufficient to prove any man "an arrant liar" who spoke to the contrary, said the Senator.

He quoted one witness as expressing an opinion that Mrs. Morris was demented and characterized it as a "queer proposition" that a woman who should pray under the circumstances should be pronounced insane. In this connection Mr. Tillman said he seldom prayed and that when he did his prayers were voiceless.

He admitted that there might have been lack of discretion on Mrs. Morris' part, but seein gthat there were barred doors between her and the President he was in no danger.

Speaking of the police at the White House, Mr. Tillman said there is such a tendency toward imperialism as would justify the use of the military for that purpose. If the country wanted to go to the devil along the lines of imperialism, he could stand it.

As indicative of this inclination he added:

"A young lady has married and gone across the water, whence she is heralded as 'Princess Alice.' I don't hold the President responsible for that, for it would be unfair to hold him responsible for the course of a lot of fools who write head lines, which must be obnoxious to both the President and the young lady."

In closing, Mr. Tillman declared that Mrs. Morris had been treated "worse than a dog," and that the President had endorsed this treatment by appointing the man responsible for it to the position of postmaster of Washington, where the women of this city would have to come into contact with him. "I have felt constrained," he said, "to do what I have done and if anybody doesn't like it let him lump it."

There was loud applause in the galleries when Mr. Tillman concluded, but owing to an objection by Senator Kean the Senate refused to vote on his resolution.

James Knox Taylor, supervising architect of the Treasury, has completed the plans for the Jamestown monument marking the place of the landing of the English. Within a few days Assistant Secretary Edwards will ask for bids from contractors for the construction of the shaft. The monument is to be an exact miniature of the Washington monument. It will be 100 feet high.

DECLINED TO DINE WITH ROOSEVELT.

Washington, June 28.—President Roosevelt had an unusual experience today. An invitation which he extended to a caller to take dinner with him tonight at the White House was declined. John Willis, of Glasgow, Montana, was the man who rejected the invitation. He is an old time friend of President Roosevelt. They formerly ranched together on the Little Missouri river.

Willis called on the President with Senator Carter, of Montana, to discuss what they maintained were the dilatory tactics of the engineers' of the reclamation service on the Milk river project in Montana. When the President extended to Willis his dinner invitation, Willis pleaded that he would not acept it because he did not have a dress suit. The President assured him that need not worry him but Willis was obdurate. The President said he would be glad to entertain him in a suit of buck skin, but Willis insisted that he knew what was proper and said that while he would be glad to join the President in a horseback ride he could not think of going to the White House for dinner in anything but a dress suit.

MEAT INSPECTION AROUSES HOUSE

Determined That Cost Shall be Paid by Government, Not by Packers.

REASONS FOR STANDING PAT

Legislation is for People and Therefore Government Should Foot Expense — Democrats and Republicans Stand Together.

By Wire to the Morning Star.

Washington, June 28.—Mr. Wadsworth called up the partial conference report on the agricultural appropriation bill in the House to-day, and it was agreed to without discussion.

Mr. Wadsworth then moved that the House insist on its disagreement to the item in packing house meat inspection amendment. The motion was adopted on a division 175 to 43.

Then Mr. Wadsworth sprung a surprise on the House by sending to the desk a resolution that it is the sense of the House that the conferees do not recede from its amendment known as the meat inspection amendment and the House was face to face with the proposition of having a contest with the Senate.

Mr. Wadsworth, after referring to the disagreement about the date going on the cans and insisting that it was not necessary, he passed to the legal questions involved. His platform was simple and expressed in two propositions. The passage of this bill was necessary for the protection of our foreign commerce and for the benefit of public health.

Mr. Lamb, of Virginia, said that there were not three members of the Committee on Agriculture who had seriously thought that the date of packing should go on the cans. Mr. Lamb outlined his position by insisting that the government should pay half and the packers half.

A vigorous protest against placing any charge on the packer was made by Mr. Burleson, of Texas. The packer, he said, would immediately shift the burden on the cattle grower.

Mr. Lever, of South Carolina, was applauded on the Republican side when he said that if the legislation was in the interest of the Beef Trust Democrats had no business legislating at all; if it was in the interest of the people the government ought to pay.

In one sentence, Mr. Williams, of

RUSH BUSINESS IN BOTH HOUSES

Congress Getting Bills Through in Order to Adjourn Next Week.

RATE BILL NOW PERFECTED

House by 193 to 45 Still Refuses to Yield on Meat Inspection—Tillman on Mrs. Minor Morris Outrage.

By Wire to The Morning Star.

Washington, June 28.—The Senate consumed the greater part of the day discussing the public buildings bill, the time being occupied in the main by efforts on the part of the individual Senators to secure increases of the amounts allotted for public buildings in cities and towns of their respective States.

In no instance of this character were they succesful but in the case of San Juan, Porto Rico, Senator Foraker secured an advance from $200,000 to $300,000. There was quite general confidence that many of the defects complained of would be remedied in conference. In reporting the bill, Senator Scott, chairman of the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, referred to it as "the pork barrel."

The agricultural appropriation bill made its appearance in the Senate again during the day in a partial conference report. The report was complete except with reference to the meat inspection provision and on that another conference was ordered.

There was some desultory discusion of the conference report on the food bill, but its disposition was postponed until tomorrow. The conference committee's report on the Lake Erie and Ohio river ship canal bill was accepted without debate. The LaFollette bill regulating hours of employment for train men was displaced by the building bill.

Senator Tillman found opportunity to make his long deferred speech on the ejection in March last of Mrs. Minor Morris from the White House by direction of Asistant Secretary Barnes. He reiterated his charge that Mrs. Morris had been outrageously treated and said that the President had endorsed the action by appointing Mr. Barnes Postmaster of Washington.

RAILWAY RATE BILL FINALLY PERFECTED

House Yesterday Adopted Conference Report as Agreed Upon With Senate Conferees—Changes Made in Few Provisions of Law.

SHERMAN KNOCKS SENATOR TILLMAN

NEW YORK REPRESENTATIVE SAID HOUSE CONFEREES WERE NOT SCARED BY SENATOR'S LURI D PICTURES OF OIL OCTOPUS AND VISIONS OF BRANDS U PON THEIR BROWS—RAILROAD MEN AND FAMILIES ARE ALLOWED PASSES.

Washington, June 28.—Once more the House has agreed to the railroad rate conference report. But one negative voice was raised against the report in the viva voce vote taken.

Mr. Sherman, of New York, after saying the report was sound and sensible, paid hisc ompliments to Senator Tillman. The conferees, he said, had not been scared by the lurid pictures of the octopus hanging over them nor by the vision of brands upon their brow. "And I desire to say for the conferees who have signed this report," he concluded, "that they have manifested throughout the whole deliberation a degree of honesty and fidelity which is certainly equal to that which a certain gentleman who has not signed the report admits he possesses."

Mr. Richardson, of Alabama, the House minority conferee on the bill, opened the discusion with a review of the conference agreement to how that the measure as he said, was democratic in its essential features and had been made more so in conference. He touched on the controversy over the pipe line amendment and said he had given the subject honest study and believed the conclusion reached to be correct.

The point was made by Mr. Bartlett, of Georgia, that the railroads had evidently "slipped up" on one point in the court review provision. As it now read, he said, it nowhere provided for an appeal from the refusal of the Circuit Court of Appeals to grant an injunction. It was only when an injunction was granted that an appeal would lie to the Supreme Court.

In the report as adopted by the House the McLaurin commodity amendment is made to apply to "railroad companies," the word "companies" having been added to the previous agreement which changed the application from "common carriers" to "railroads" in order to exempt pipe lines.

The pass provision is redrafted along the lines of the amendment as passed by the Senate. It prohibits broadly and genrally the issuance of any free transportation for interstate passage, and then provides an excepted class which is as follows:

No common carrier subject to the provisions of this act, shall after January 1, 1907, directly or indirectly issue or give any interstate free transportation for passengers, except to its employes and their families, its officers, agents, surgeons, physicans and attorneys at law; to ministers of religion, traveling secretaries of railroad Young Men's Christian Associations, inmates of hospitals and charitable and elemosynary institutions and persons exclusively engaged in charitable and eleemosynary work; to indigent, destitute and homeless persons, and to such persons when transported by charitable societies or hospitals, and the necessary agents employed in such transportation, to inmates of national homes or State homes for disabled volunteer soldiers and of soldiers and sailors homes, including those about to enter and those returning home after discharge, and boards of managers of such homes; to necessary caretakers of livestock, poultry and fruit; to employes on sleeping cars, express cars and to linemen of telegraph and telephone companies; to railway mail service employes, postoffice inspectors and immigrant inspectors; to newsboys on trains, baggage agents, witnesses attending any legal investigation in which the common carrier is interested, persons injured in wrecks and physicans and nurses attending such persons."

THANKED THE PRESIDENT.

PILE OF CLOTHING BURNED.

Government Destroyed $20,000 Worth at Norfolk Yesterday.

By Wire to The Morning Star.

Norfolk, Va., June 28.—Twenty thousand dollars worth of clothing was today burned by the government on the recently acquired reservation adjoining the navy yard.

The clothing was recovered from pawn shops last December by Special Agent W. H. Cutchins. The big bonfire to-day was the result of the failure of officials to locate the original owners.

The burning was witnessed by a large number of the sailors, many of whom would have been glad to possess some of the clothes and willing to pay for them.

Marines stood guard over the big heap and not even a pair of trousers escaped the flames.

HARRY K. THAW IS HELD FOR MURDER

Before Grand Jury Yesterday and Laughed During Investigation of Tragedy—Chorus Girl Wife Refused to Testify Against Husband.

By Wire to The Morning Star.

New York, June 28.—Harry Kendall Thaw was indicted to-day for murder in the first degree for the killing of Stanford White last Monday night on the Madison Square roof garden. His wife, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, appeared as a witness before the grand jury, but begged to be excused from giving any testimony whatever. She was treated with every consideration by Assistant District Attorney Garvan and by the jurors, who did not insist that she should answer any questions.

Thaw will plead to the indictment in court to-morrow morning. No time will be set for the trial until District Attorney Jerome returns to the city next week. In the meantime witnesses have been summoned to appear in John Doe proceedings at the District Attorney's office to help the latter frame up his presetnation of the case. The grand jury's consideration of the case was brief and followed a perfunctory inquest before a coroner's jury, which heard the testimony of several eye-witnesses to the tragedy and rendered a formal verdict that White's death had been caused by young Thaw. The latter calmly listened to the testimony, and while the jury was out he chatted with his counsel and a policeman sitting near, laughing aloud at one stage of the conversation. When the jury had completed its verdict Thaw was recommitted to the Tombs without bail. His indictment was announced soon afterward.

Mrs. Thaw, following her appearance before the grand jury, crossed the Bridge of Sighs and entered the city prison to see her husband. They talked together for a long while and when Mrs. Thaw finally attempted to leave the great granite building she found her way blocked by the largest crowd, the police say, that has ever gathered about structure. She was virtually held a prisoner by the inquisitive throng for thirty minutes, when reserves from many police precincts man aged finally to clear a way for her.

Stanford White was buried to-day with simple ceremonies at St. James, L. I., where he had a Summer home. The services were held in the St. James' Episcopal church and the interment was made in the graveyard surrounding the quaint little edifice.

In the opinion of the physician who performed the autopsy on White's body the life of the architect was shortened no more than two years by the
